

Sen. Kennedy Is In Solidly

Booked as 'Sure Shot' For Party Nomination

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Democratic National Convention opens today with Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts booked solidly as a sure shot for the party's presidential nomination.

Barring some unforeseen last-hour development, Kennedy seemed likely to walk away with the coveted prize in balloting beginning Wednesday. Whether he would take it on the first count still was somewhat problematical. But that he would take it there remained little doubt.

May Include Racial Issue In Platform

South Objecting, But Approval Appears Likely

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A plank pledging a bold federal attack on racial discrimination, written over strong Southern objections, appeared headed today for adoption in the Democratic party platform.

The platform goes before the Democratic National Convention Tuesday after preliminary action today by the full Platform Committee. Approval by both groups seemed certain.

But unanswered was what Dixie delegates might do about it. They could walk out of the convention in protest as some did in 1952 to express dissatisfaction with a civil rights stand taken then. Or they could stay and fight out the issue on the convention floor and take a probable defeat.

Their final decision, some of them said, was tied to the fate of the candidacy of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas for the party's presidential nomination.

They said drastic action by Southern delegates might well be associated with Johnson, inasmuch as he represents a Southern state and has many Dixie votes for the nomination.

DiSalle Plugs For Kennedy-Symington

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle plugged for a Kennedy-Symington ticket as the Democratic National Convention opened today.

He firmed up his prediction that Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts would run away with the presidential nomination by more than 800 votes on the first ballot, with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas getting less than 400.

DiSalle made it clear that he liked Sen. Stuart Symington for vice president and planned to talk with the Missourian, a presidential prospect, about the second spot.

The governor expressed his views at a news conference.

A Feeling of Sinking Suspense

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Democratic National Convention opens today with a rising feeling of sinking suspense.

The experts say it's all over but the shouting. Now if we could only eliminate the shouting.

This convention is like a ball game which already has been played and the score posted but the starting pitchers still insist on warming up. Everyone says that Kennedy is in. Everyone but Johnson and Symington, who smile bravely and say they are still in the running. Stevenson still says he's not actively in the race, and he never seemed more right.

After four days of public hearing, the Platform Committee has gone into hiding to draft a platform. After the election, the platform will go into hiding.

The good, gray Johnson people still say that Kennedy is too

Crestfallen rivals kept their campaigns going. But Adlai E. Stevenson, a two-time winner of jackpots in this political gamble, said he was willing to accept a Cabinet post as a consolation prize.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. David L. Lawrence announced today that a Pennsylvania caucus had decided to cast 64 of the state's 81 votes for Sen. John F. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

There were some rather strong indications that supporters of Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) were about to toss in the sponge. They denied this, of course, but the seeming futility of opposing the Kennedy juggernaut impressed itself deeply on some Symington backers.

Steve Langmade, Arizona national committeeman, told a reporter he understands consideration is being given to the Symington camp to releasing the 104 convention votes supporters claim the Missouri senator has nailed down on the first ballot.

Any such action could be a fatal blow to the efforts of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas to hold the line in the early counting and thus open the way for selection later of either himself or some other candidate.

Langmade is pledged to Kennedy on the first ballot and said he will stick through the second tally. If additional votes are needed, Langmade said, he is prepared to switch to Johnson on the third counting.

Former President Harry S. Truman's double-reverse decision not to attend the convention after all cast a deep pall of gloom over the Symington camp. Symington dismissed the decision with the comment that "Mr. Truman always does what he thinks is best."

Press Time Bulletins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington said today he is still in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination but some of his closest supporters conceded privately his chances are virtually hopeless.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina today carried a Southern fight against a bold civil rights plank to the resolution committee of the Democratic National Convention.

young for the job. But if somehow the balloting should go beyond the fourth or fifth ballot, he'll age enough in that time for any job.

A man in a blue suit and a white Johnson-for-president tie happened to be sitting near the free soda pop stand in the senator's reception room. A woman and her young son walked up and asked for a bottle. The man said he was sorry he couldn't help her. "Come junior," the woman said, pulling her son, "they're just cheap here."

The man in the blue suit was H. L. Hunt, one of the richest men in the world, who has more oil millions than Kennedy has delegates.

Despite the support of Hunt and other Texas wheels, the Johnson people keep complaining about all the money the Kennedy people have been spending on their campaign. This is the most moving

Hazel Palmer Named To GOP National Platform Committee

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Miss Hazel Palmer of Sedalia and Robert B. Langworth, Kansas City, have been appointed to the resolutions and platform committee of the Republican national convention.

They will start their committee work in Chicago July 19.

The appointments were made Saturday by Richard A. Erickson, chairman of the Missouri delegation.

Miss Palmer was the GOP candidate for U. S. senator two years ago.

Congo Wants UN Aid

Asks UN To Intervene, Restore Order

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — The Congo government has asked the United Nations to intervene and restore order in this former Belgian territory, Belgian Minister Ganshof van de Meersch said today.

The appeal was forwarded Sunday after talks between the U.S. Ambassador Clare Timberlake, President Joseph Kasavubu, Premier Patrice Lumumba and Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations troubleshooter.

No response from the United Nations has yet been received. Rebellious Congolese troops were reported terrorizing whites today in Luluabourg and Stanleyville and fleets of planes were rushed to help European refugees flee the torn new African nation.

Belgian paratroops arrived in trouble centers, to control the native troops rampaging in far-flung sectors of Belgium's former colony in central Africa.

Luluabourg, in the center of the Congo and once intended to become the republic's new capital, was reported still in a state of near panic, with mutineers attacking white civilians and looting homes and stores.

At least 10 Europeans were killed in the weekend of violence. Official Belgian reports said three were killed and one wounded when African rebels besieged hundreds of whites in a hotel in Luluabourg Sunday. They were rescued by Belgian paratroops.

US Alerts Troops For Evacuations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said today that U.S. troops in Germany were alerted to help evacuate Americans from mutiny-torn Congo but it has been decided so far that they are not needed.

Officials called the action a routine precaution. The officials said that by now all dependents of Americans stationed in the Congo and so-called nonessential people from Leopoldville were evacuated to Brazzaville, the capital of the former French Congo.

They also said that Americans who wanted to leave Elisabethville, principal city of the copper-rich Katanga province were also evacuated to Northern Rhodesia. Officials did not know how this evacuation was carried out.

sign of humility from Texas since Alaska became the biggest state in the union.

In the Kennedy reception room a vetrolloquist's dummy answers visitors' questions: in the Symington reception room girls pass out adhesive bandages saying "Stick with Symington"; and in the lobby a lonely man walks with a sign saying "Vote for Stevenson — he's a lousy golfer." Which will give you an idea of the riotous wit at the convention.

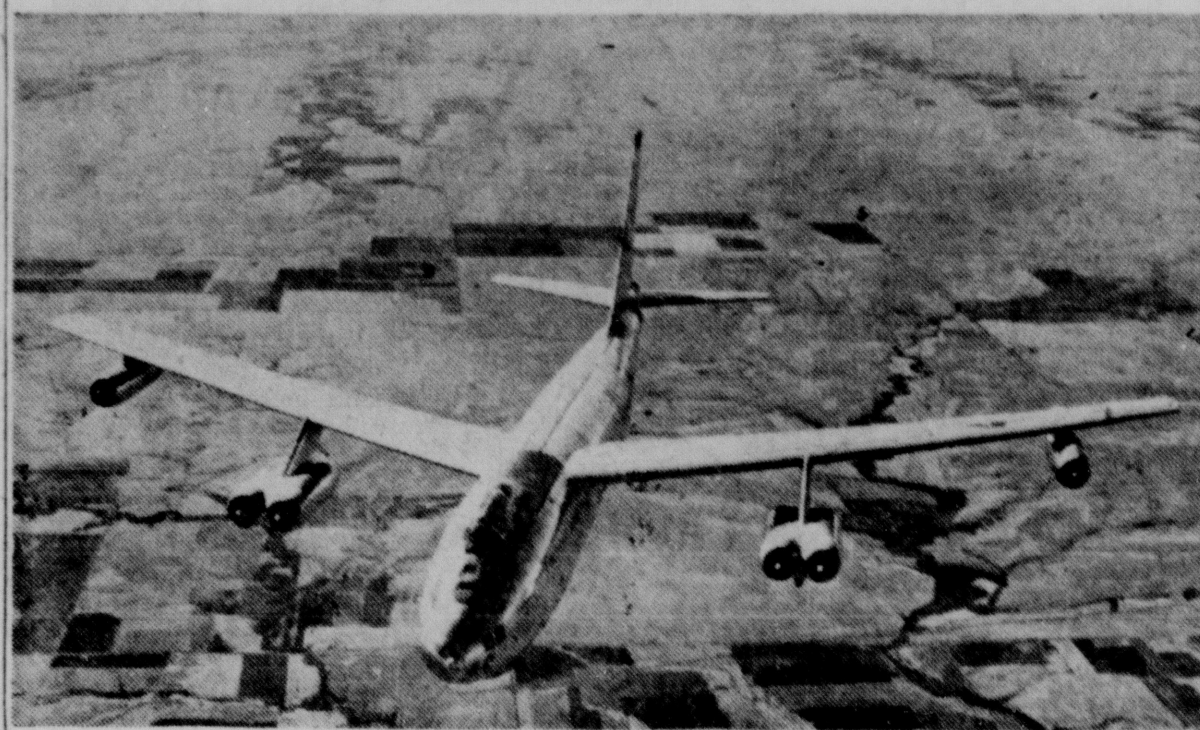

Symington was about to go on a TV show when a technician told him, "Senator, you've lost your garter." Symington hoisted the garter, saying, "That's not all I've lost around here."

The incident occurred shortly after the senator learned that his No. 1 supporter, Harry S. Truman, had definitely decided not to attend the convention.

The reporters also will miss Mr. Truman. Who's going to walk us in the morning?

Soviets Down US Plane

2 RB-47 Fliers Face Red Court

SHOT DOWN—Russia today announced an American RB-47 plane, similar to the above plane from Whiteman AFB, has been shot down and two of the crew who parachuted to safety are being held. The plane was reported lost July 1 over waters north of Norway and the Soviet Union. Four other crewmen are not accounted for. A Soviet fighter allegedly shot the RB-47 down over Soviet territory.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it shot down an American RB-47 reconnaissance plane July 1 over Soviet territory and that two crewmen parachuted to safety and are being questioned.

This was the first word of the plane since it disappeared July 1 with six men aboard while on an electromagnetic mapping flight over waters north of Norway and the Soviet Union.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrie A. Gromyko summoned U.S. Charge D'Affaires Edward Freers and handed him a note protesting violation of Soviet air space by the plane.

Similar notes were given to Britain and Norway because the plane was temporarily based in England and was expected to land at a Norwegian air field.

A Soviet announcement said the survivors would be prosecuted "with full severity of Soviet law."

The two captured fliers were Lt. John R. McCone, 38, Tonganoxie, Kan., and Lt. Freeman B. Olmstead, 24, Elmira, N.Y.

The note did not mention the fate of the other members of the crew of six.

The latest Soviet note followed by two days a Moscow announcement that Francis Powers, pilot of the downed American U2 spy plane, would be tried for espionage. Power's plane was downed deep inside Soviet Union May 1 while on a high altitude photographic mission.

The incident kicked up an international furor and was used by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to call off the Paris summit meeting even before it started.

Today's note said the Soviet air force picked up a trace of the plane while it was over the Barents Sea proceeding toward Soviet territory. When it reached the Soviet border at the Kola Peninsula, a fighter plane took off and identified the plane by its American Air Force markings.

The note said the Soviet pilot ordered the American plane to (Please turn to page 2, column 3)

Cuba May be Left Out

Ike Outlines Aid Program To Latin American Nations

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower today outlined a U.S. good-will aid program for Latin American nations, but said Cuba's Castro regime would be included only if it shows willingness to cooperate.

At a news conference at the summer White House, Eisenhower declined to go to any extent into the Cuban crisis. For example, he brushed aside a question about his reaction to a hint by Cuba's President that Cuba might demand the United States abandon its Guantanamo naval base.

The President declared he would wait for such a demand before having any comment.

Eisenhower's only comment on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's pledge last Saturday of all-out support to the Fidel Castro regime, was that he regarded Khrushchev's remarks as very crude.

The Khrushchev pledge brought from Eisenhower over the weekend a warning that the United States would not tolerate the establishment of a regime in Cuba dominated by international Communism.

Eisenhower met with newsmen today after he and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter had conferred for nearly two hours on the Cuban crisis and the new U.S. plan to bolster economic and social standards in Latin American nations.

Eisenhower announced that he has instructed Herter to confer with representatives of these nations. If additional money is needed from Congress to finance the aid program, he will ask for it, Eisenhower said.

In outlining the plan, the President took no specific note of the tense situation regarding Cuba.

In a prepared statement, he did say, however, that Latin America is passing through a social and political transformation, and added that "dictatorships are falling by the wayside."

The President went on: "Moderate groups, seeking orderly reform, are contesting with dictators of both right, and left who favor violence and authoritarianism. Many of the extremists frequently endeavor to introduce dogmas which are inimicable to the traditions of the Western Hemisphere."

"The interests of the United States, now less than those of all the Americas, are directly involved in this struggle, a threat to the security of the hemisphere. It is imperative that institutions be developed and strengthened sufficiently to permit the people's needs to be met through orderly processes of change."

"A renewed hemispheric determination to preserve principles of liberty and the dignity of man is needed. There is also an urgent need for a broader and more vigorous cooperative attack by all American governments and peoples if adequate progress with freedom, is to be achieved."

The U.S. program for such cooperative help will be set forth formally at a meeting of the economic ministers of the American republics at Bogota, Colombia, starting Sept. 5.

More than 500 members of the Missouri Rural Letter Carriers Association, Auxiliary and Juniors are expected to attend the annual convention of the three groups to be held here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Registration will be held Thursday at Bothwell Hotel starting at 9 a.m.

The opening meeting is set for Thursday evening at the First Methodist Church. Fourth and Osage, followed by the memorial service. At 9 p.m. a reception is scheduled at the Bothwell Hotel and the Juniors at the courthouse.

Friday afternoon a joint meeting will be held at the First Methodist Church. Talks will be made by Ray Hulick, director of Rural Appointments and Post Office Changes Division Bureau of Operations, Washington, D.C., and Representative Morgan Moulder and Floyd Huffman, members of the board in Washington, D.C. Both are from Missouri.

At 4:30 p.m. Friday there will be a tour of the Whiteman Air Force Base.

Saturday morning the business of the organizations will be completed at which time officers will be elected for the coming year.

Presiding over the Missouri Letter Carriers Association meetings will be Ward Dennis, Huntsville, president of the association with Mrs. Dorothy Wahrenbrock, Alma, president of the Auxiliary, presiding over the meetings of the Auxiliary. Glenn Kirkpatrick, Sedalia, is chairman.

2 Burglaries, Car Break-in Reported

Two burglaries and one car break-in were reported to police during the weekend.

Saturday morning, the operator of the Skelgas bottling plant on Clinton Road reported the plant had been broken into. Six dollars in cash and $4 in stamps, in addition to a cheap watch, were about $150 worth of tools.

The Osage Building and Supply Co., also on Clinton Road, reported Saturday morning that thieves had entered the building by forcing a window. They entered the safe. The police report did not say if the safe was locked, or if anything was taken.

Sunday morning, Leroy Klein, Route 4, reported that someone had broken into his car, parked on the Meadow Gold lot, and took about 150 worth of tools.

Television Murder Reported to Police

Sunday morning the Sedalia Police Department received a report of a murder. The desk sergeant said he couldn't quite make out what was being said over the phone because he heard a television set in the background.

The sergeant finally made out, however, that the murder was being committed on TV, and the young caller thought he should report it.

"Boy, I've had it," the sergeant entered on the police blotter.

'Old Home Week'

Smith-Cotton Class Reunion Attended by 137 Members

It was "old home week" Sunday for 137 members, their wives and husbands and in some instances their children, of the Smith-Cotton High School graduating classes of 1930.

Represented at the class reunion were members of the 1930 class which was graduated in January — the first half-year graduating class from Smith-Cotton — and the class which was graduated in May of that year.

Officially the reunion opened

Hot, Humid

The weather seems to be geared to the convention and the world situation—hot and humid.

Clear to partly cloudy with scattered showers near the Missouri river late tonight and Tuesday morning; continued warmer and humid; low 73, high 93.

The temperature Monday was 71 at 7 a.m. and 95 at 1 p.m. Low Sunday night was 70, with 21 inches of rainfall.

The temperature one year ago today was, high 84; low 61; two years ago, high 82, low 67; three years ago, high 91, low 65.

Lake of Ozarks stage: 58.0 feet; 2.0 below full reservoir; no change.

Docking Up For The Nod

Theis Says He Will Make Nomination

LOS ANGELES (AP) — National committeeman Frank Theis said today he would nominate Gov. George Docking as a favorite son for the Democratic presidential nomination. That stopped one phase of a torrid Kansas delegation hassle.

It was still a hot debate whether the state's 21 votes would go to Sen. John F. Kennedy or Sen. Stuart Symington when the Democratic convention picks a presidential candidate.

Theis said he would make the nomination speech for Docking and Mrs. Georgia Neese Gray, national committeewoman, would second it.

After that first ballot, Theis said, Kansas would caucus to see where the delegation would go.

"I don't think we will settle anything beyond that first ballot at the caucus last today," (noon est) Theis said.

Supporters of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Sen. Symington of Missouri reportedly joined forces last night to keep Kansas' votes from Kennedy.

Rep. Wallace Dies

SIKESTON, Mo. (AP) — State Rep. James Wallace died of a heart attack at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston Saturday night. He was 69 years old.

Olivia Leachman Exchanges Vows With Lorne Sutherland

Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Alexandria, Va., was the scene of the nuptial rites at half past seven o'clock Friday evening, June 17, uniting Miss Olivia Leachman and Mr. Lorne Douglas Sutherland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmis D. Sutherland, Sedalia.

The altar was lighted with candles and decorated with white spring flowers and was the background for the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Jacques Ambler. Traditional wedding music was played by Dr. Edward Van Sant.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess style gown of white tulle and her fingertip veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white roses, gardenias and baby's breath.

The bride's sister, Miss Marcia Litsey, was maid of honor. She wore yellow tulle with an embroidered organza overlay and carried a bouquet of roses and spring flowers on a background of tulle.

The bridesmaids were Miss Lee Smith, Washington, Va., and Mrs. Joseph Hanus, Alexandria. Their dresses were identical to the maid of honor's but were blue.

Miss Jennifer Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, Charlotte, N. C., was flower girl. Her white organza dress was accented with a blue sash. She wore a wrist corsage of spring flowers and a headband of matching flowers.

Mr. Alfred Sutherland, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. David Litsey and Mr. Edward Toepfer, Alexandria, Mr. Larry Henderson, Phoenix, Ariz., and Mr. David Smith, Olney, Ill.

A reception for 175 guests was held immediately after the ceremony in the Parish Hall of the church.

The bride's mother wore a turquoise lace over tulle dress, a flowered hat and red rose corsage. Mrs. Sutherland, mother of the groom, was attired in a turquoise jacketed dress with white hat and accessories. Her corsage was of white orchids.

For traveling the bride wore

a beige and brown linen duster over a beige shirtwaist dress with matching accessories.

Prior to rehearsal on Thursday evening, June 16, Mrs. Edward Toepfer entertained the guests with a patio supper at her home.

Preceding the wedding on Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Emmis D. sister, Mrs. Alfred Henderson and Larry, Phoenix, Ariz., were honored guests at a luncheon given by the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Smith, Fairfax, Va., formerly of Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Surviving Fall Over Niagara Is Million to 1 Shot

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The odds against young Rodger Woodward's surviving his 161-foot tumble down the Horseshoe Falls were 100 million to one, a state engineer says.

Rodger, 7, was swept over the falls Saturday when a motorboat in which he, his sister, and a family friend were riding capsized in the upper Niagara River. His sister, Deanne, 17, was plucked from the swirling rapids at the brink by two New York coast guard

Women's Guild Meets Friday Afternoon

The Women's Guild of the St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church of Pilot Grove met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Oscar Meisenheimer. There were 20 members and two visitors, Mrs. Leroy Ries and baby, Martinsville, present.

Mrs. Virgil Schupp as leader of the program used the topic theme, "Discipline Participation in Group Worship." She was assisted by Mrs. Paul Meisenheimer, Mrs. George Irvin Eichelberger, Mrs. Karl Bergman and Miss Victoria Boothe.

Mrs. Herman Ries and Mrs. A. C. Mueller were appointed on the flower committee for the church during the month of July. Reports were given by the chairman of the various committees and a letter of thanks from the State Hospital in Fulton was read.

Kansas Caucus Stop-Kennedy Movement Seen

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A "Stop Kennedy" movement is expected to unfold today at a caucus of the Kansas delegation and make for a lively fight just before the Democratic national convention opens.

One report had supporters of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson joining forces with those of Sen. Stuart Symington and claiming a one vote margin to keep the state's 21 votes from going to Sen. John F. Kennedy.

You couldn't get any of those involved to say anything for the record. But a reliable source said it was true.

The fight began brewing when Gov. George Docking said he would be willing to release Kansas from voting for him on the first ballot as a favorite son.

Docking said he thought Kennedy was a "shoo-in" for the nomination.

This sent the Johnson Symington forces scurrying for together.

By a state convention decree, the delegation must vote as a unit. A simple majority determines which candidate gets the whole package.

Docking generally had been conceded to have enough strength to swing the delegation any way he wanted. But he hadn't given out any official word until this weekend.

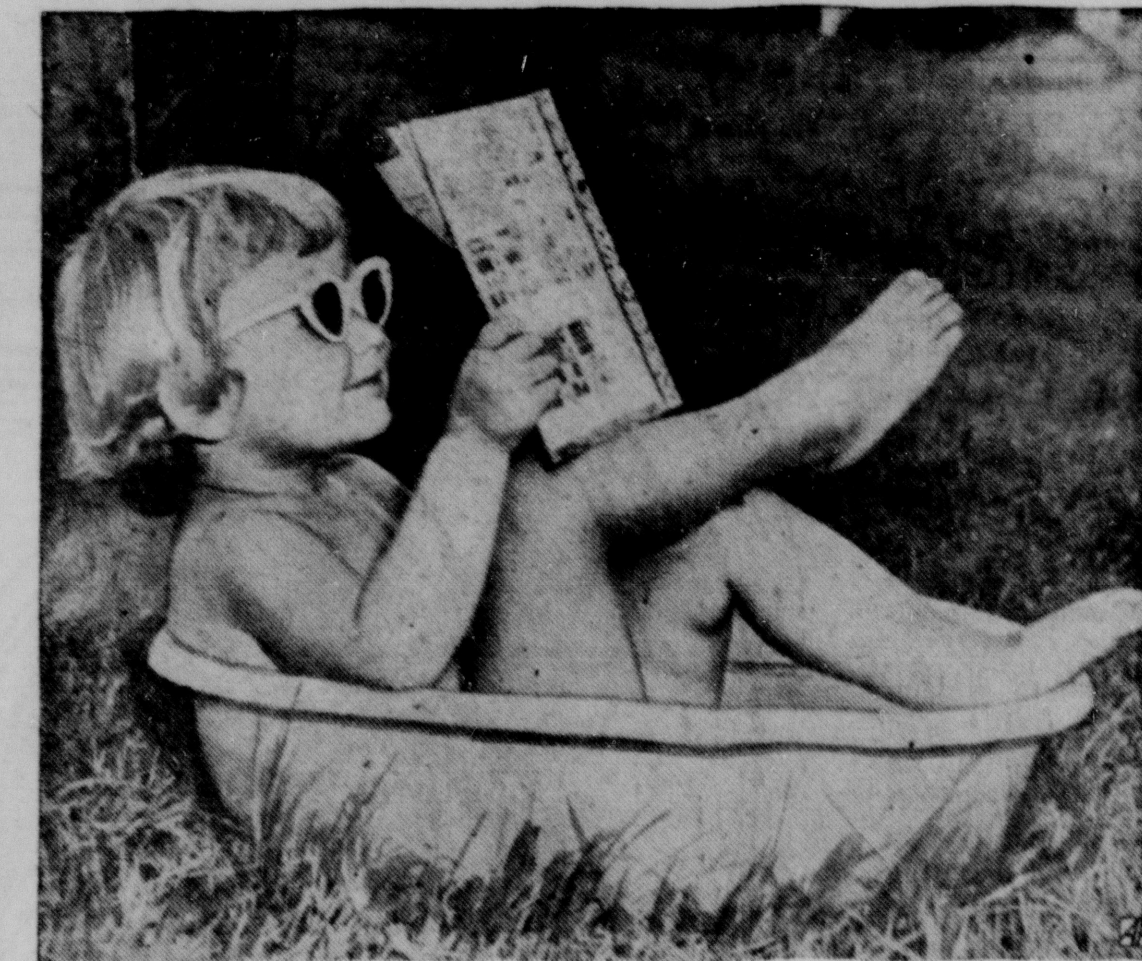

Whichever way it goes, the situation made life merry for the delegates yesterday and added zip to the scheduled noon caucus today.

There was even a legal question for the delegates to nibble: Could a state convention-instructed delegation kick over the traces and not vote for Docking as a favorite son?

You could get both answers, yes or no, depending on which side you asked.

A source that should know said Johnson had three full votes out of the 21. These, it was claimed, when combined with those credited to Symington would give Symington 11 votes as opposed to 10 for Kennedy.

The Kennedy backers weren't buying this figure. But they also weren't discounting a close contest.

Mr. Beath, who is a brother of Mrs. Elliott, left Friday for Los Angeles to attend the Democratic National Convention, and will return to Sedalia July 14. Mrs. Beath and Mary Elizabeth remained in Sedalia.

Mr. Beath is an attorney with the Federal Trades Commission in Washington.

Women's Association Plans Sept. Meet

The Women's Association of the Broadway Presbyterian Church met July 7 at 9:30 a.m. at the church.

Music for the program was furnished by the Turner Trio consisting of Susan Turner, vocal soloist accompanied by David Turner on the Spanish guitar and Butch Turner on the steel guitar.

The topic of the program was Africa. Mrs. Ralph VanDerKamp traced the early development of the country, pointing out the difficulties in establishing missions due to climatic conditions, tribal customs and fear of slave traders. Mrs. R. C. Williamson discussed the causes of the problems in Africa today, which are due to racial barriers.

Mrs. Ira Leiter conducted the business meeting and announced that the next meeting will be Sept. 1 with Group 4 in charge of the luncheon and Mrs. D. Warren Neal, chairman of the program. An executive board meeting will precede the luncheon.

Mrs. Ralph VanDerKamp announced a retreat to be held by the Association on Sept. 8.

Summer's for Kids

Summer is for kids, someone remarks.

Indeed, it is beyond dispute; few adults would argue otherwise.

Yet, there is an increasing number of Sedalia kids who are consciously or unconsciously courting a ghastly sequel to the axiom.

Dismal statistics show that accidents involving children always shoot up during the summer months. Customarily, the onus for prevention of these calamities seems to rest upon the adults. Motorists are urged to be careful; parents are petitioned to caution their youngsters.

What we need is more response from the youngsters themselves. To acknowledge that carelessness is a prerogative of exuberant youth that nothing can be done about it, is unrealistic when a dead or injured child lies on the pavement.

Definite laxity among Sedalia bicycle riders with respect to observing the most elementary traffic safeguards is apparent this summer, especially to motorists who would be blamed if an accident occurred.

To suggest that Sedalia bike riders are dare-devils is not an exaggeration. They ignore stop signs and red lights, depending on their agility to get across intersections in front of moving traffic and are just about as acrobatic around pedestrians; they double ride a vehicle; they seldom use hand signals; they ride at night without headlights, taillights or red reflectors; they dart out of driveways into the path of moving traffic, and so on, ad infinitum.

The traffic regulations for motorists are applicable to bike riders and should be observed by both. Disregard by either group of the sensible laws of safety is not responsible citizenship.

Whether it be careless or disdainful, habitual neglect of traffic laws should not long be tolerated if we are to have any respect for discipline.

Certainly parents should make an extra effort to teach their offspring the rudiments of riding a bicycle on our city streets, and insist they practice safe riding.

What's the difference, one may ask? Well, between 400 and 500 bike riders are killed each year in accidents with motor vehicles. More than 25,000 suffer disabling injuries; more than eight out of ten victims are under 16.

But, get this, in four out of five accidents, the bicycle rider is violating the law.

That ought to be enough, statistically, to chill parents into a realization that if summer is to continue to be for the kids, then the kids must be disciplined to observe the rules of traffic safety.

Kennedy May be Made a Sitting Duck

By DREW PEARSON

LOS ANGELES — Republican researchers have been doing a job on the prospective Democratic candidates, especially on Jack Kennedy whom they regard as most likely to win in Los Angeles. Significantly they seem quite happy about this prospect, because they have dug up some ammunition which they think will make the young Massachusetts senator a sitting duck next November.

Probably the Republicans are too optimistic. Anyway it will pay both Kennedy and the delegates to take a look at the enemy's ammunition. Here is some of it:

WEST VIRGINIA—The FBI has turned in its report on alleged West Virginia vote-buying by Kennedy forces. Nothing will be done about it until the convention is over, after which a grand jury will be called. Justice Department officials aren't talking but seem delighted at the prospects.

MCCARTHYISM — Democratic attacks on Nixon for being a McCarthyite will be counteracted by some interesting quotes by Kennedy in which he praised Nixon in his Senate race against Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas. GOP researchers have dug up a speech by Kennedy, Nov. 10, 1950, before Harvard students in which he said that he personally was very happy that Mrs. Douglas had just been defeated in California by Richard Nixon; that he liked Joe McCarthy—"he may have something"; that he supported the McCarran immigration act; and had no great respect for Dean Acheson or any member of the Fair Deal administration.

Jack has come a long way from that day. But if the Democrats get too tough against Nixon and his use of McCarthy tactics against Mrs. Douglas, Republicans also plan to bring out the Jack Kennedy contribution of $1,000 to help Nixon defeat Mrs. Douglas.

JOE KENNEDY ON HITLERISM — Most interesting documents dug up by Republican researchers are the correspondence between the Nazi ambassador in London and the German foreign office shortly before Pearl Harbor. This was found among German files at the end of the war and show Jack's father, then ambassador to London, having intimate talks with the German ambassador in order to keep the United States out of war.

Reports to Hitler

Young Kennedy, who had a great war record, is in no way involved. Nevertheless, because of the closeness between father and son, Republican strategists believe the Nazi letters will be effective. Here are some of the significant quotes they plan to use:

On June 13, 1938—after Hitler invaded Austria—German Ambassador Von Dirksen in London wrote State Secretary Weizsacker in Berlin about a long talk with Ambassador Kennedy.

"1. Mr. Kennedy opened the conversation," he reported, "by mentioning the question of delivery of helium to Germany; it was extremely regrettable that it had not materialized. The only one opposed to the project had been Secretary of the Interior Ickes."

"2. We touched on Kennedy's trip (to the USA) and its purpose. . . . He believed above all that the United States would establish friendly relations with Germany."

"3. The ambassador then touched upon the Jewish question and stated that it was naturally of great importance to German-Americans. It was not so much the fact that we wanted to get rid of the Jews that was harmful to us, but rather the loud clamor with which we accomplished this purpose. He himself understood our Jewish policy completely; he was from Boston and there, in one golf club and in other clubs, no Jews had been admitted for the past 50 years. His father had not been elected mayor because he was a Catholic."

"Kennedy stated that the average American took a very simple view of problems of foreign policy; there were only 3 1/2 million Jews in the United States and the overwhelming majority of them lived on the east coast. Elsewhere the anti-German sentiment was by no means widespread."

The German ambassador gave some of his own views of the United States, saying that during the early Roosevelt administration the United States had leaned toward the totalitarian state.

"Mr. Kennedy agreed with my statements wholeheartedly," Von Dirksen reported. "In particular he considered it correct that during the first years of Roosevelt, the United States had been governed in an authoritarian manner."

"I mentioned the poisonous role of the American press. . . . He did not have much to say. . . . And merely mentioned that the press on the east coast was unfortunately predominant in the formation of public opinion and it was strongly influenced by the Jews." The German ambassador ended his letter "With many regards and Heil Hitler."

When Ambassador Kennedy returned to London from his trip to the USA he conferred with the German envoy again and proposed a trip to Germany. There followed various other letters. Finally on Aug. 16, 1938, Under Secretary of State Woermann wrote the German charge d'affaires in London: "We request you to tell Mr. Kennedy in a friendly manner that his visit to Berlin, for the reason mentioned by him, would be very welcome."

The trip never materialized. The Nazi putsch into Czechoslovakia a few weeks later aroused American public opinion to a fever pitch and made it appear to many that war was inevitable.

Old Joe, however, didn't think so. As late as Nov. 10, 1940 he told the Boston Globe "Lindbergh isn't crazy" about keeping us out of the war, attacked the lend-lease bill and jeered at Mrs. Roosevelt.

"She bothered us more on jobs to take care of poor little nobodies. . . . Than all the rest of the people put together. She's always sending me a note to have some little Susie Glotz to tea at the embassy."

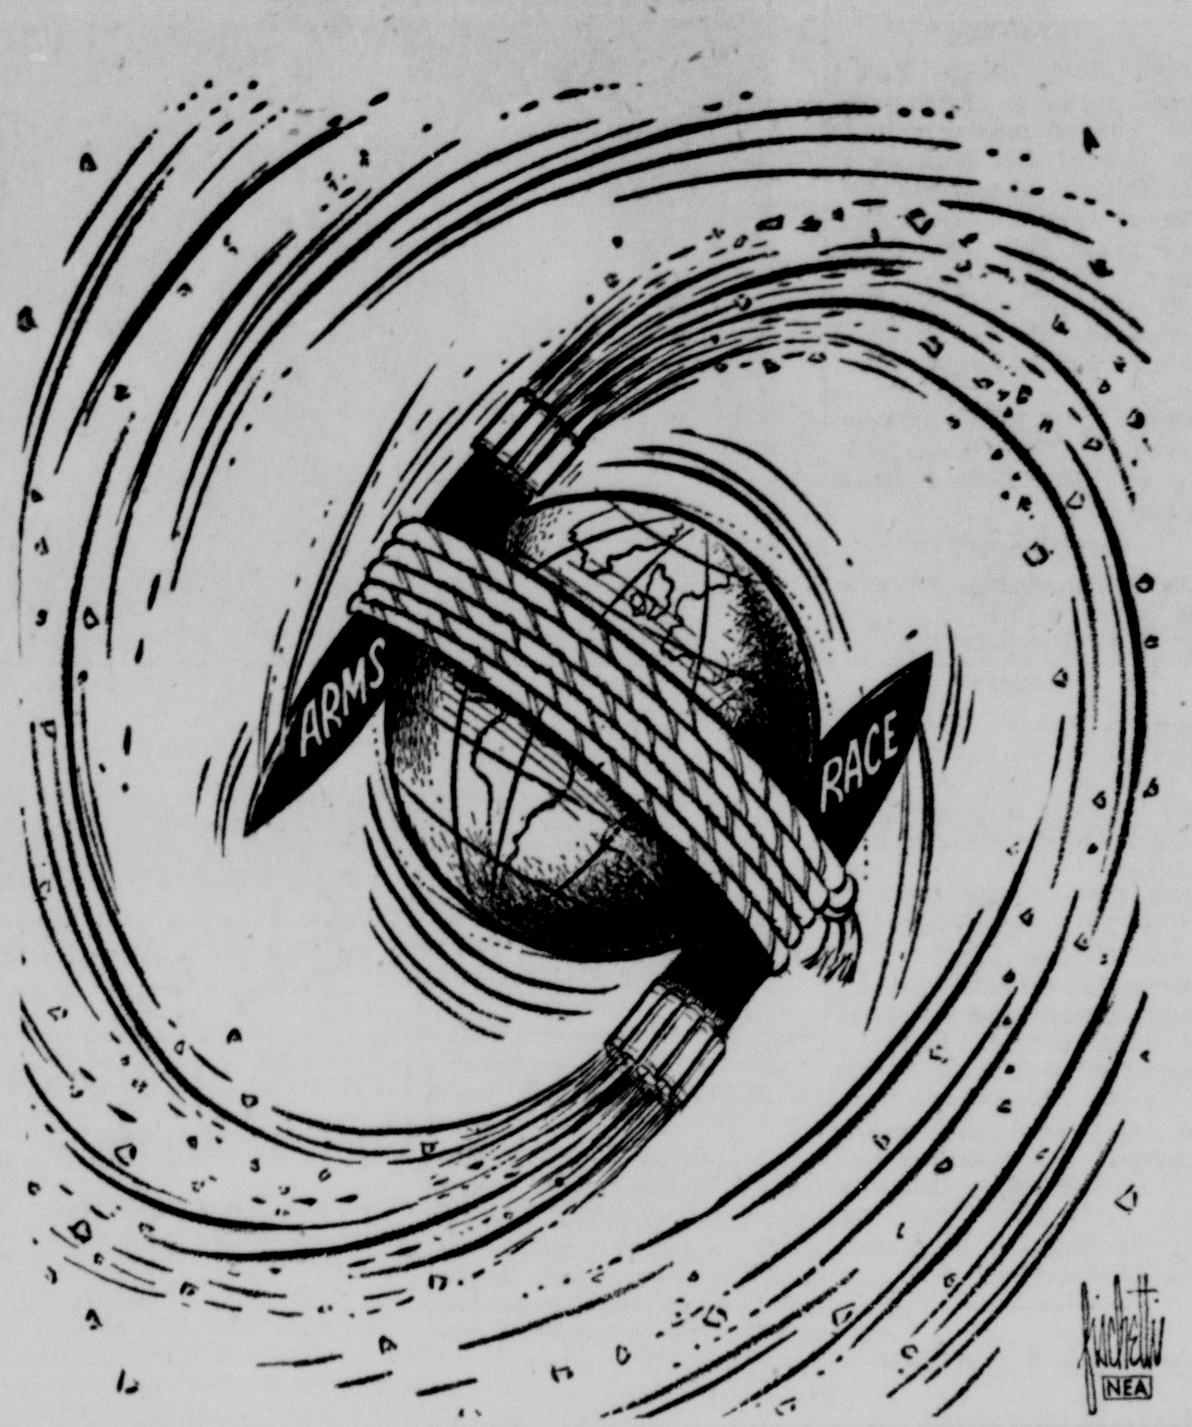

After that Joe resigned.

The World Today

Victory Is Seen for Sen. Kennedy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A victory for Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts — who seemed to have the presidential nomination sewed up before the Democratic convention opened today — will bring a gush of explanations, some too glib, some too pat, and some with only temporary significance.

Kennedy, for instance, beat the bushes all year looking for delegates, ran in the primaries, and visited most states while his closest rivals, Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri, ran in no primaries, met far fewer people, relied more on contacts with professional politicians.

But it doesn't follow that would-be presidents in 1964 will have to imitate Kennedy in the belief the more people they meet and the more publicity they get the better their chances. You don't have to look further than Adlai E. Stevenson for a recent contrary example.

In 1952 he was governor of Illinois, admired by some important politicians, did no campaigning, didn't want the nomination, was known to very few convention delegates, and hardly at all by most Americans. Nevertheless, he wound up with the nomination handed to him.

This year there seemed no doubt he yearned for a third chance, but as the convention opened he looked like a sad also-ran. He was by then a two-time loser in the presidential race, and the delegates were reluctant to take a chance on him again. He said he wouldn't ask them to.

It just happened that in 1952 there were no outstanding candidates. In that kind of vacuum the eloquent Stevenson looked like a natural. This year none of the Democratic candidates could be called a dominant figure.

Perhaps when that is the case in the future hard work will pay off for some other candidate as it appeared to do this year for Kennedy. But the memory of the unwilling Stevenson of 1952 says this idea isn't necessarily so.

The fact that all the announced candidates this year were senators does not prove that the nation in the future will look more toward Congress for its presidents and less toward other public men.

particular governors who were more or less in political eclipse this year.

For example: On the Republican side New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would have been a standout—no Republican senator is close to him in prestige or public awareness of him—if Vice President Richard M. Nixon hadn't built himself up through performance and contacts as the No. 1 man.

Johnson indicated on TV last week he felt an obligation, as Democratic leader of the Senate, to stay close to his job. Therefore, he couldn't tear around the country, as Kennedy did, trying to line up delegates.

Instead he seemed to rely on the power of fellow senators and Democratic House members to rally support for him in a big way. This will look like a mistake in strategy if Kennedy wins the nomination. But that wouldn't necessarily be true, either.

For instance, Johnson is from the South. That alone is a handicap to any politician looking for a presidential nomination at a time when the racial issue is still such a problem in the South.

But if Johnson's record in Senate leadership and voting—particularly on civil rights and labor—had been satisfactory to big city Negroes and organized labor, satisfactory enough for them to support him, all of Kennedy's efforts this year might have counted for nothing.

Battle on Two Fronts

A Candidate's Challenge In A Field of Materialism

By JOE DEAR
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — In American life the Christian Way is the only road on which there is never a traffic jam.

We tell children it's there. We admire an appearance of piety by public men. But for the most part our day-to-day life is untouched by the influence of any religious leader.

Our national life, however, is affected by what we think the other guy thinks about religion. Mr. Truman's thinking, for example, is dominated by the conviction that Senator Kennedy can't win because he's a Catholic.

Unfortunately, the issue wasn't buried in West Virginia. And though Mr. Truman deftly obscured matters at his pre-convention press conference by commending another Catholic, Senator Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.), to the convention, the issue will be a live one.

(Truman was safe in commending McCarthy, who isn't a candidate for the nomination and who wouldn't have a chance if he were.)

Mr. Truman made known his views privately but forcefully to several newspapermen after the 1958 congressional campaign. Senator Kennedy, he noted, had helped the campaign by speaking persuasively for Democratic candidates across the nation.

"It's just too bad," Mr. Truman said, "that he isn't a nice Methodist boy." Our former President went on to say that "you people in the East don't realize" that Catholicism would be a damaging issue in the Midwest.

This, of course, was a political judgment based on Mr. Truman's estimate of what people think. It also is an illustration of how religion affects national life.

Mr. Truman's estimate in this case may be faulty. His reputation as a canny politician rests almost entirely on his performance in 1948, when he upended Tom Dewey.

Mr. Truman was the right man, for the right race, in the right year. Against a less overbearing confident opponent he might have been clobbered. He was wide of the mark in assessing Averell Harriman's chances at the 1956 Democratic convention.

Let's hope Mr. Truman is wide of the mark in the case of Senator Kennedy. It would be unflattering to us all to discover that the principal impact of religion on our national life was the rejection by a major political party of a candidate because of his church affiliation.

It would be more than unflattering. It would be farcical. For this country has a huge population of practicing but non-professing materialists who are quite prepared to admire abstract Christian theory. But not necessarily the fellow or group that puts theory into practice.

Mr. Nixon's Quakers, for example, have more than once in their history paid a stiff price for taking to heart the Biblical injunction: Thou Shalt Not Kill.

On the personal level, how about meekness? Is it a quality you admire? Or that your friends admire?

What about turning the other cheek, and love thy neighbor? We all endorse the theory of tolerance, but most especially when

The Doctor Says

Here's What to Do About Worm Infestation Cases

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
My mailpouch usually includes at least one despairing note on the subject of worm infestations (helminthiasis).

This is a great pity in the light of the many important advances that have been made in the treatment of helminthiasis.

Several recently introduced drugs effectively expel worms (vermifuges). Others actually kill them (vermicides, anthelmintics) without causing serious discomforts or injury to the human host.

In the modern treatment of worm infestations, failures are rarely due to any difficulty in recognizing the kind of worm that's taken up residence in the host's tissues or to lack of strength on the part of the drugs.

In almost every instance the cause of failure is reinfection of the successfully "wormed" patient who picks up a fresh boarder soon after the former tenant has been dispossessed.

Thus the problem that faces my despairing correspondents is that of learning the habits of their unwelcome wormy "roomer" and, through this knowledge, of finding means for breaking the cycle of infestation, "cure" and reinfection.

Let me give you a few practical examples of how this is done.

The hookworm egg usually enters the tissues of the host through the soles of the feet as the barefoot child or adult walks on soil that has been contaminated by an infected person or animal. Here, the cycle is easily broken by wearing shoes at all times.

There's a variety of roundworm that gets into our bodies when we eat improperly processed pork and another that enters with the bite of a certain tropical fly.

The cycle is broken in the first of these (trichinosis) by strict supervision of meat processing and in the second (filariasis) by effective use of insecticides.

There's a sort of tapeworm that may be brought into the home by a pet dog. That cycle is broken by worming the dog.

The biggest nuisance of all is getting rid of pin (or seat worms). This is the commonest of all North American infestations. No one really knows how many of our children are made uncomfortable by the itching that's due to deposits of eggs beneath the skin of their tender backsides.

Now it's no great trick for your doctor to prescribe one of several drugs that are death to the tiny worm.

But it's your job to see that the youngster doesn't infect the rest of the household and reinfect himself by scratching.

You may have to keep the nails pared short, stand over youngsters while they scrub hands and nails after visits to the bathroom, provide them with snug night clothes to prevent scratching during sleep, boil their nightclothes and linens before putting them in with the family wash, scrub the toilet seat after they've used it the other guy turns his cheek or if he has enough muscle.

The keystone of our culture is science and technology, not the Christian ethic. And that's just the way it is in Soviet Russia.

It's plain enough that the Communists are giving us a stiff run in our chosen field of materialism. They are unlocking many doors to the world of tomorrow.

In short, we are maneuvering ourselves into the unhappy position of fighting a losing war on two fronts. We are throwing one battle by not practicing what we profess. Our lines are shaky on the other front because we have refused to believe Russia could challenge our technology.

Any candidate who can correct the national viewpoint of what is happening on both fronts deserves consideration. It's hard to believe religion or church affiliation would make that job more difficult.

and warn the mothers of any of their itching friends to do likewise.

Lincoln's Path

By CYRENE DEAR

Of Our Washington Bureau
HUNTINGBURG, Ind. — Abraham Lincoln spent 16 years of his life in Indiana. We discovered that fact as we followed the path of Lincoln's boyhood along the stone-marked trail in Lincoln State Park in southern Indiana. "We" consisted of my son, Walter, his wife Martha and their eleven-months-old baby, Bryan.

We decided on the eve of the Fourth of July that it would be fitting to visit the shrine of the Great Emancipator on our way back from Huntingburg, Ind., to Henderson, Kentucky. The fact that Bryan had to be carried in the arms of one of us during the excursion did not deter us from taking the trip. I am sure that when he grows up, we will often remind him of the time he toured the path of Abraham Lincoln in the Indiana park, a babe in arms.

We visited first the site of the Lincoln cabin which was marked with metal "logs" showing the actual size, which looked about 16 feet by 16 feet square. An accurate reproduction of the hearth was there where Lincoln's food was cooked and where he read his few books with only the light from the fire to aid his sight.

We followed the trail which was broad and shaded. It was pleasantly cool as we paused to read the inscriptions on the stones which had been transported from all the places which marked stepping stones in Lincoln's career such as: his birthplace in Hardin County; boyhood home in Indiana; home in Illinois; the White House in Washington; the spot where he made his first inaugural address; the site of the Gettysburg speech; and, finally, the house on 10th St. where he was taken after his assassination.

Lincoln's formative years were spent in Indiana with his own mother, Nancy Hanks, who died when Abe was nine years old. Nancy Hanks lies buried in this park and we visited her grave. Thoughtful friends of the Lincoln heritage erected a suitable monument in 1879 to this pioneer mother who died when she was only thirty-five years old.

As we meditated by the grave of Nancy Hanks in that wooded cemetery plot, we pondered about her influence over the lad who was destined to become so great an American.

Although Thomas Lincoln, Abe's father, was supposed to be a shiftless character, he chose good women to be his wives. After the death of Nancy Hanks, Thomas married Sarah Johnson, who encouraged Abe in his studies and other enterprises.

The Lincoln trail which we took ended at the highway. We were informed by some bicycling boys that we had taken the trip in reverse. It would have been shorter to reach the grave directly from the highway. We were not sorry, however, because the trail was beautiful.

On the opposite side of the highway we stopped to view the imposing memorial cloister depicting, in panels, the life of Lincoln, beginning with Kentucky, and including Indiana, Illinois and the White House. The central panel portrayed Lincoln's death, with the famous words, "Now he belongs to the ages."

We drove around the park which includes a picnic area and a bathing beach. People come from all over the country to pay tribute to the man who was really a trislator as well as the nation's first citizen, and to pause in reverence at the grave of the gentle mother who gave him birth.

GOOD FARMING

in Pettis County

By MERLE VAUGHAN
County Extension Agent

European Corn Borer

Egg laying and egg hatching has now been completed in all sections of the state.

Borer numbers remain generally low throughout the state, however, there is great variance from field to field. The earliest planted fields over the northern half of the state show a range of from 10 to 35 per cent of the stalks with leaf feeding scars. There may be occasional fields with somewhat higher infestations. A few of the borers are now beginning to enter the stalks in the central counties, but it will be a week or so before this will occur in the northern counties.

This coming week will probably be the last opportunity to profitably apply insecticides for first brood corn borer control over the northern half of the state (north of Highway 40). Once again, we strongly urge you to check each field carefully before deciding whether or not to use controls.

There is the possibility that the heavy winds, hail and rain of this week may have killed a number of the smaller borers particularly in the counties north of Highway 36. To determine whether this has happened, it will be necessary to cut from five to ten stalks showing leaf feeding scars. Select these plants for cutting from different areas within the field. Carefully unroll the leaves and examine both sides of each leaf for live borers.

Apply controls if and when 75 per cent of the stalks show leaf feeding scars and live borers are present. Use as sprays applied with ground equipment only, 1 1/2 pounds DDT (three quarts 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate) per acre of three ounces endrin either with ground equipment or by aircraft at the following rates per acre: 20 pounds five per cent DDT, 15 pounds 10 per cent toxaphene, or 15 pounds two per cent endrin.

Thrips on Corn

Many fields of small corn and some fields of grain sorghums are heavily infested with thrips. These thrips are extremely small, grayish to pale yellowish insects no more than 1-2 of an inch in length. Many people know a species of thrips which is black in color and commonly called "oat bugs" or "oat lice." These insects feed by rasping the surface of the leaves and then suck up the exuding sap. As a result of this feeding, the leaves take on a silvery or grayish cast.

In most instances this injury looks much worse than it actually is, and plants will recover and grow out of this injury in one to two weeks.

Spraying is not recommended for thrips control on corn and grain sorghums.

Cutworms

Cutworms continue to damage corn, especially replanted fields, in scattered areas over the northern half of the state.

Where a broadcast application of two pounds of aldrin or heptachlor was not applied prior to replant, severe damage can be expected to continue for at least another week. Some replanted stands may be saved by applying three pounds toxaphene or eight ounces dieldrin per acre. Concentrate the spray at the base of the plants and in the row. A light cultivation immediately following spraying will help hold the insecticide in the soil and may result in a somewhat higher kill of cutworms.

Armyworms

The damage from armyworms has ceased in all sections of the state. In many sections, the worms have pupated and adult moths are now emerging.

We have had a very heavy flight of armyworm and cutworm moths this week. What this means is still a guess. We will continue to watch this situation and keep you informed.

Horn Flies

Horn flies are becoming very numerous on herds of beef cattle that are not protected with insecticides.

Keep the backrubbers charged. If you do not have a backrubber, the construction on one will return big dividends. The main point to remember is to locate the backrubber in a place where the cattle normally loaf. String some sort of a cable — several strands of barbed wire, light chain, etc.—between two posts set about 15 to 20 feet apart, and cover the cable with burlap sacks. To give the best coverage, the cable should be only about 15 to 18 inches above the ground at the low point between the posts, but should be attached about four feet up on the posts.

Soak the sacks with five per cent livestock toxaphene (made by mixing 1/2 pint 65 per cent toxaphene emulsifiable concentrate, livestock formulation, in four quarts of fuel oil), or five per cent DDT (made by mixing one quart 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate in four quarts of fuel oil), or two per cent malathion (made by mixing six tablespoons 57 per cent malathion emulsifiable concentrate in four quarts of fuel oil).

It usually takes about one gallon of mixture to soak the sacks the first time, and about two quarts applied every two weeks to keep the backrubber charged.

When charging the first time, put on half the liquid one day and the remainder the next day. Do not let cattle use a backrubber that is dripping with the insecticide mixture.

Beef cattle may also be sprayed with toxaphene (three quarts 65 per cent livestock formulation toxaphene emulsifiable concentrate per 100 gallons of water) applying from one to two gallons per animal.

DO NOT use any of the above on dairy animals. DO NOT use toxaphene on beef cattle within 30 days of slaughter. DO NOT spray beef or dairy cattle with DDT.

Clay-Colored Leaf Beetles

These yellowish-brown beetles, about 1/4 inch long, are now feeding on mimosa, locust and certain other ornamentals in the southern part of the state.

These beetles are not difficult to control with insecticides but more beetles will fly into sprayed trees and may feed for some time before they are killed by the chemicals.

On small ornamentals, use the malathion-methoxychlor mixture. On larger trees, it is more economical to use two quarts 65 per cent toxaphene or one quart 15 per cent dieldrin emulsifiable concentrate per 100 gallons of water. Repeat applications in ten days if necessary.

Campaign Buttons For Coasters, Says Woman

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A woman looking for campaign buttons, walked into the ABC-TV office.

She already had a handful of buttons, representing every major candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination. This prompted someone to ask who her favorite was.

"My favorite," she said, "is Nixon."

And, explaining her button collection, she added:

"I'm going to make coasters out of these."

MARTIN HARTZELL, who farms in the Gasconade River bottom near Freeburg, used a pre-emergence spray for weed control. This photo shows the effectiveness of the treatment in a corn field that has not been cultivated. Hartzell designed and constructed a spray rig that fit on his corn planter and thus was able to eliminate an extra trip over the field. He used 2, 4-D at the rate of one pound of actual chemical to an acre. He has 200 acres in corn this year. This field is entered in the state-wide corn yield contest sponsored by the Missouri Farmers Association. Weeds are more of a problem in the bottom than on upland.

Now and Next Winter

There's Quite a Difference In Tomatoes, Their Color

Fresh tomatoes are on the market all year in Missouri. However, the ones we see in stores during winter and spring are usually rather expensive and not as tasty or as juicy and red as we like them. Too, summer, vine-ripened tomatoes have about twice as much vitamin C as hot house tomatoes.

One large, fully ripe tomato can give you half the vitamin C you need for a day. In addition, from this tomato you will get fair amounts of vitamins A and B, and some calcium and iron. Then too, tomatoes are low in calories.

Missouri's first locally grown tomatoes usually appear on the market around the first of July. Then in August, September, and until heavy frost arrives, red, ripe tomatoes are abundant and prices are usually reasonable. Grade A tomatoes are free from blemishes, and are plump, smooth firm, well-shaped and have a uniform tomato-red color all the way to the stem.

The place to keep tomatoes depends on their degree of ripeness. Keep ripe tomatoes in the refrigerator; but under ripe tomatoes may become pale, watery, soft, and lacking in flavor when kept in the refrigerator. Tomatoes that are a little green should be ripened at cool room temperature (between 60 and 75 degrees F.) A good way to ripen them might be to spread out on a shelf in the basement. A sunny window sill is a poor place as it is usually too hot. Do not let tomatoes become overripe or they lose quality and vitamin content rapidly; they become too ripe and soften.

Summer is the season to really enjoy tomatoes. What is better than a thick slice of a cold, peeled, grade A tomato? Serve them with sandwiches or as a salad in the main meal of the day. Stuff a large tomato with cottage cheese or with chicken, ham or fish salad, and you have a good main dish for supper or lunch.

While tomatoes are at their peak, consider canning some for winter's use. Whether whole or in the form of juice they are the easiest of all vegetables to can and they retain vitamin C when canned much better than any other vegetables and better than any fruits except citrus.

Tomato juice may be frozen, but many homemakers feel that since tomatoes are so easy to can, and since canned tomato products taste so good and keep so well, they do not want to give valuable freezer space to them.

Home gardens yield about a bushel of tomatoes for every nine or ten tomato plants. This is enough for 20 to 25 quarts of canned tomatoes or tomato juice. To have enough canned tomatoes to last during the time when one can be gotten from the garden, most families find they need to can from 20 to 25 quarts per person.

If you are trying to decide whether it pays to can your tomatoes, remember when a bushel of good tomatoes cost $1.50 and heating costs are usual, the average cost of a quart of canned tomatoes is 10 cents. It takes an experienced canner around three hours to can a bushel of good tomatoes. Home canned tomatoes and tomato juice can taste better or worse than the commercially canned ones. Quality of tomatoes and skill of the person doing the canning will make the difference.

Tomato juice is a good alternate for orange juice. Steaming hot or ice cold it is a most refreshing snack. Calendar around, tomatoes can add color, flavor and food value to family meals. Enjoy them during the hot weather and can them for use next winter. For detailed instructions on canning tomatoes and tomato juice call or write your county home agent.

Hotel Suite May Still Cost Truman Money

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman had reservations when he decided not to attend the Democratic convention.

The Ambassador Hotel said Sunday that a $123-a-day suite was still reserved for Truman and that he'll be billed for it even if he stays home. The hotel said the suite was reserved last November.

A hotel spokesman said the reservation might be cancelled if the ex-President didn't show up today.

More Consumer Products Are Coming from Missouri

By Uel Blank,
MU Marketing Specialist

Do you know where your next meal is coming from?

I don't mean by that question to inquire into the state of your finances — I'm really asking if you know where the various products you eat were produced. Let's look briefly at some of the main food items.

Will you have a glass of fresh milk? The chances are that it will come from a farm not over 100 to 150 miles from where you live. The same is true for the egg you expect to eat for breakfast. These are highly perishable products and seldom move far from producer to consumer.

The pork chop, beef roast or steak that you expect for dinner is also likely to come from Missouri or one of the surrounding states. But the reason meat comes from so close at home is that we are in the heart of the greatest meat producing section of the world. Meat from the mid-West goes to every part of the U.S. in addition to supplying our own local needs.

Maybe you plan to have fried chicken instead of a steak. This could come from a nearby broiler grower. But broiler production is becoming quite concentrated and fried chicken could have come from McDonald County in the southwest corner of the state or even from as far away as Georgia, where a large number of broilers are now being produced.

If you like cheese you will probably include it on the menu. A few years ago this would probably have come from Minnesota or Wisconsin. But the cheese you eat today or tomorrow may very likely have been produced and processed right here in Missouri because it now nationally ranks second in cheese production.

So far we've stuck pretty close to home. We've either talked about products that are difficult to ship long distances or those produced in Missouri in abundance. But when we get into fruits and vegetables we actually reach out all over the country. Last year St. Louis received 35 states and a number of foreign countries. Among food from other countries were onions from Egypt and apples from Argentina. There are, in addition, a large

Use of 2-4-D On Wheat Weeds

It seems there have been many requests for information by wheat farmers about the use of 2-4-D to control weeds in wheat.

U. S. Department of Agriculture and Department of Health, Education and Welfare says that no new regulations have been issued. There is no regulation that says 2-4-D must be used at any specific period prior to harvest. However, to get best results, the chemical is usually applied about 50 days before harvest to kill weeds that would otherwise be a problem in combining the crop.

The chemical 2-4-D is recognized as safe and has been used effectively and safely on weeds in wheat for some 12 years.

Since the first use of this chemical, no residue has been found in wheat. There's no evidence to show that any residue will ever result.

number of specialty food items that come from all parts of the world.

Missouri production is important during summer months for some fruits and vegetables. Among these are lettuce, cabbage, tomatoes and melons. Some are grown in greenhouses near St. Louis and Kansas City throughout the year. We still are dependent on other areas for our fruits and vegetables, because only 10 per cent of that consumed in our big cities is grown in Missouri.

We have time to look at just a few items: cabbage comes mostly from Texas in the Kansas City area. If you live around St. Louis, cabbage may also come from Texas but it's even more likely to come from Wisconsin. Arizona and California supply three-fourths of Missouri's lettuce. By contrast, potatoes may come from any one of 20 different states. Idaho is the most important of these but it only supplies 20 per cent of the total potatoes Missourians ate last year.

I haven't covered anywhere near all the items that you may eat tomorrow but let me summarize by this idea: We live in the heart of a great food-producing area. Missouri's population could easily live on the food producing resources of our state alone, but because of great developments in the organization and techniques of food shipments, we are able to draw upon many parts of the nation for a greatly varied and enriched diet.

FEED PIONEER VIG-R-CALF AND PIONEER CALF STARTER

All of the bred-in production potential of your future herd is sealed up in the calf you raise. The next step is to develop the calf's size and capacity to produce up to this bred-in potential.

You can accomplish rapid early growth and capacity by raising your calves on the Pioneer calf program. Feed Vig-R-Calf to four weeks of age. It's 90% milk... fortified with antibiotics, minerals and vitamins... mixes easily and stays in suspension. It costs less than milk!

Then feed Pioneer Calf Starter from the 4th day. You'll have your calves on dry feed by the 4th week. Dry feeding saves labor... and produces more rapid, more efficient growth.

A dollar invested in Pioneer Vig-R-Calf and Pioneer Calf Starter is a dollar invested in the long term profitability of your herd.

Sox Scramble Back From Yank Sweep

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The last time the New York Yankees saw the Chicago White Sox they left 'em for dead, sweeping a four-game series and tumbling the American League champs to fifth place, five games behind.

Not only did the Yanks figure the Sox were through, but they said so. And those Yankee quotes—tacked up in the Comiskey Park clubhouse—have done more for the White Sox than another starting pitcher.

They've won 14 of 20 since that Yankee sweep, scrambling back to third place and now just three games shy of the top after splitting a double-header with Cleveland. The Indians clung to second by a half game, ending a four-game slump with a 6-2 victory in the opener before the White Sox came from behind and won the nightcap 6-4.

That cut New York's lead to 2½ games going into the All-Star break. The Yankees, who have lost five of their last seven, were whipped 9-5 at Boston for a three-game sweep by the last place Red Sox.

Washington beat Baltimore 2-1; and Detroit, after trailing 7-0, cracked Kansas City 12-10 as Rocky Colavito hit two homers and drove in six runs.

In the National League, Pittsburgh retained a five-game lead by beating Philadelphia 6-2 with four runs in the ninth. Second-place Milwaukee rapped Cincinnati 7-1. Los Angeles regained third place from St. Louis by beating the Cards 11-7. And San Francisco after losing five in a row, defeated Chicago's Cubs 5-3.

The White Sox made it five out of six—all against the Tribe—with five runs in the sixth inning of the second game. A solo homer by Jim Landis got it started, and a three-run homer by Roy Sievers who has hit in 16 consecutive games, put it away. Mudcat Grant 6-3, was the loser in relief of Dick

Cards Hand LA Victory; A's Defeated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals frittered away two three-run leads and wound up losing 11-7 to the Dodgers at Los Angeles Sunday. The Kansas City Athletics were beaten 12-10 by Detroit at Kansas City.

Even Stan Musial, on a red hot streak and driving in four Red Bird runs, couldn't save the Cards from their amateurish base running—and from the booming bats of Frank Howard and Norm Sherry.

Musial's performance left him with an even .300 batting average. Rookie Howard drove in five runs and he, Sherry and Tom Davis each hit homers, pacing the Dodgers' 16-hit attack. Howard's two-run homer in the first inning was his 13th of the season. The Cards paraded Ron Kline, Larry Jackson, Bernie Broglio, Lindy McDaniel, Bob Dula and Bob Gibson to the mound with Dula (4-4) taking the loss.

The victory moved the Dodgers back into third place and dropped the Cards out of third down to fifth in the National League.

The Athletics bumped squarely into Rocky Colavito who drove in six runs with two homers and a single.

The A's scored seven runs in the second inning. There was a total of 23 hits and each team used four pitchers in the ill-played contest.

The winning pitcher, Don Mossi, took over in the sixth inning when the Athletics assumed a 10-9 lead. He became the winner in the 7th when Colavito hit a three-run homer against loser Dick Hall.

Bud Daley of the A's started in quest of his 13th victory but left in the fifth when Detroit scored five runs.

Norm Siebern led Athletic hitters with four safeties in five journeys to the plate. Andy Carey hit a two-run Athletic homer in the second inning.

Champion Is Back; Olympic Hopes Are High

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—United States' Olympic hopes in the decathlon are up today now that Rafer Johnson is back, established as the greatest decathlon performer of all times.

He won the finest duel in decathlon history by nosing out C.K. Yang of Formosa in a weekend meet in which both cracked the recognized world decathlon record of 8,357 points.

Johnson, making his first competitive start since automobile accident injuries laid him up last year, ran up 8,683 points. Yang achieved 8,426.

"I'm awfully happy to return the decathlon record to the United States—but Yang almost took it right back from me," Johnson said. "I think it was the high jump which kept me going. When I cleared 5-10 Friday after going only 5-6 or 5-8 in practice, it gave me a boost. But I didn't come to Eugene to set a record. No, sir, I just came to make the boat to Rome."

It was not certain until the last event that the 24-year-old Johnson would be able to outdo the 27-year-old Yang, who will compete for Formosa in the Olympic Games.

Yang entered the 1500-meter race needing a 4-minute, 34.8-second run to squeeze ahead of Johnson. Tired from earlier events in the two-day National AAU decathlon meet, Yang could manage only 5 minutes, 9.3 seconds.

Dodgers 12 for Last 16

Buc's Lead Strong; LA Hottest Club

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates have the largest lead in the National League at the All Star break in five years, but who's the hottest club in the race? There's just one answer—the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers.

While the Bucs have padded their lead to five games over second-place Milwaukee by picking up 1½ games over the past two weeks, they've played no better than .500 ball in that span. But the Dodgers, who were in sixth place, 12 games behind two weeks ago, have won 12 of 16 since for a four-game gain.

With Frank Howard walloping home five runs and Norm Sherry's homer breaking a 7-7 tie, the Dodgers knocked off St. Louis 11-7 Sunday and regained third place from the Cards. It was the sixth victory in seven games for the Dodgers.

The Pirates, holding the biggest bulge at All Star time since the 1955 Dodgers set a record with an 11½-game spread, defeated Philadelphia 6-2 with four runs in the ninth—their 12th last-inning victory. Milwaukee cracked Cincinnati 7-1, and San Francisco, after losing five in a row, scored five unearned runs in the seventh inning for a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

In the American League, last-place Boston made a sweep of a three-game series with New York, whipping the Yankees 9-5 and trimming their lead to 2½ games over second-place Cleveland. The Indians split a double-header at Chicago, winning 6-2 before the White Sox took the nightcap 6-4. Washington beat Baltimore 2-1. Detroit, down 7-0, whipped Kansas City 12-10.

Howard, the giant on the Dodgers who has 12 hits in his last 23 at bat, was 3-for-5 in his 16-hit barrage, upping his average to .301. He drove in two runs with his 13th homer in the first inning, doubled home two more in the sixth, and then singled ahead of rookie Tommy Davis' first major league home run in the eighth. Sherry's shot, his eighth, came in the seventh inning and beat re-

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—You don't usually battle a broadsword with a rapier, but such equipment served middleweight Hank Casey to good advantage last time, and tonight he'll be out to repeat his earlier victory over power-punching Henry Hank of Detroit.

Casey, a smooth-boxing boxer from Los Angeles, jumped into the National Boxing Assn. version of the division's top ten when he trimmed Hank last month in a big upset. The triumph placed him No. 5 among contenders for Gene Fullmer's title, one peg behind Hank in the latest ratings.

The fight will neither be broadcast nor televised. Despite the outcome of their first meeting, Hank is favored to win here tonight and climb closer to a title bout. Hank's knockout power has had him among the top challengers for some time.

National Is 13-10 Favorite To Defeat Americans Today

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The National League, winner of only one of the last four midsummer clashes, ruled a 13-10 favorite to defeat the Americans today in the first of two All-Star clashes this week.

A capacity crowd of 30,611 was assured for the first All-Star game ever played here. A larger crowd, between 45,000 and 50,000 was expected to attend the second game to be played in New York's Yankee Stadium Wednesday.

Former President Harry S. Truman purchased four tickets and was expected to attend today's game, passing up the opening of the Democratic convention in Los Angeles.

The American League chances suffered a serious setback when it became known Sunday night that Mickey Mantle, the star center fielder of the New York Yankees, might not be able to play. Mantle reinjured a knee in last Saturday's game in Boston and was restricted to a pinch hitting role Sunday.

"I don't know whether I can make it," Mantle was reported as saying, "and I won't know until just before the game."

If Mantle can't play, his place in center field may be taken by Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers. Kaline was named to the squad as a reserve outfielder.

With both squads featuring right-handed strength, Mgrs. Walter Alston and Al Lopez chose to open with right-handed pitchers.

Although late Sunday night neither manager was definite about his starting hurler, all indications were that the opening pitchers would be Bob Friend of Pittsburgh against Bill Monbouquette of Boston.

"I haven't made up my mind between Monbouquette and Bell (right-hander Gary Bell of Cleveland)," said Lopez, the Chicago White Sox manager, piloting the American League squad. "I understand Monbo looked great shutting out the Yankees Friday night. I may go with him, but I won't be sure until I have had a talk with all of my pitchers before the game tomorrow."

Walter Alston, Los Angeles leader bossing the Nationals, originally had announced he would pitch either Friend or his Pittsburgh running mate, Vernon Law. Later he switched to Larry Jackson of St. Louis but went back to Friend after Jackson was used in relief by the Cardinals against his Dodgers Sunday.

"I can't go wrong pitching Friend," Alston said. "He is well rested, not having pitched since Friday, and he has had All-Star experience."

The Nationals appeared to have the edge in power, especially if Mantle is unable to do any more than pinch-hit. The senior circuit has a power-packed lineup featuring such home-run sluggers as Ernie Banks, 26; Henry Aaron, 24; Eddie Mathews, 19; Ken Boyer, 20; Willie Mays, 18; as well as Joe Adcock, Bob Skinner, Del Crandall and Bill Mazeroski in the starting lineup.

White Sox Back Into Contention

CHICAGO (AP)—Roy Sievers, the guy who "gets the big hits when they count," has lifted the Chicago White Sox back into contention for the American League pennant.

The hard-hitting slugger acquired from Washington in a pre-season deal smashed a three-run homer Sunday to give the Sox a 6-4 victory over Cleveland and end the American League Champions an important doubleheader split.

The triumph was the fifth for the Sox in their six-game two-city series with the Indians and put them one-half game behind second-place Cleveland and three games within league-leading New York.

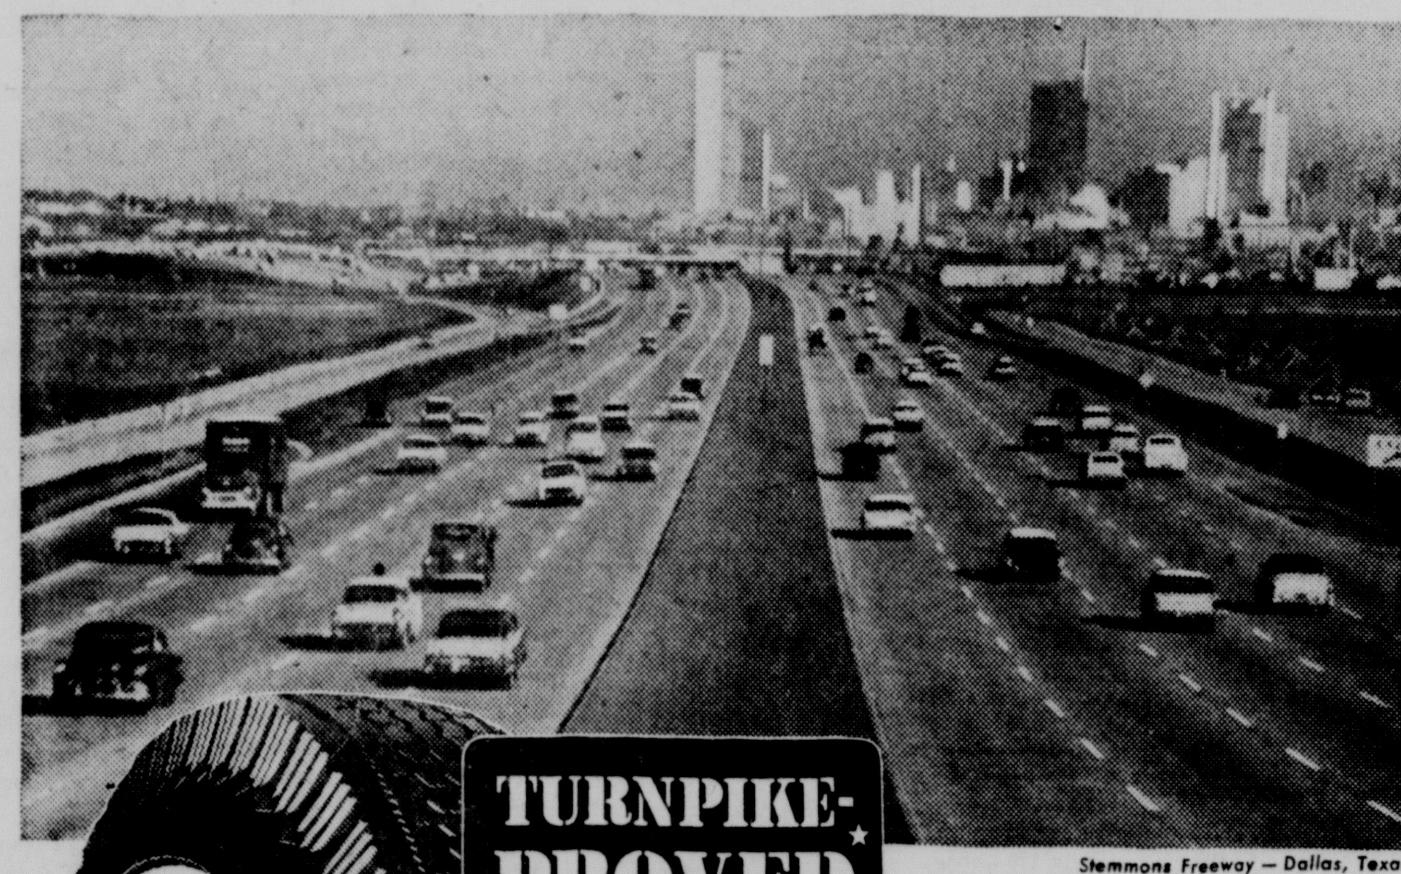

Sievers' smash was his second homer within five days which gave the White Sox victory. A two-run ninth inning blast broke a tie Wednesday and gave the Sox a 7-5 triumph which began a four-game winning streak against Cleveland.

After a slow start which found Sievers riding the bench the big first baseman is currently on a 16-game hitting streak in which he has lifted his average from .241 to .280. He has hit six of his 12 home runs during this string in which he has driven in 15 runs.

Believed Strongest Rowing Squad Ever Put Together

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The United States Olympic rowing squad, headed by Navy's varsity eight, is considered by officials the strongest combination ever put together.

Twenty-six oarsmen in seven rowing classes were picked Saturday in finals that climaxed three days of pulse-pounding trials over the 2,000-meter or 1 1/2 mile Onondaga Lake course.

Navy's powerful varsity heavyweights, coming with a rush in the final 500 meters, nosed out California and a Syracuse alumni boat in the premier eight-oared event.

It was the first big win of the year for Navy after a series of disappointing second and third-place finishes.

Seattle's Lake Washington rowing club landed four of the small-boat spots—pairs with and without coxswain and four with and without coxswain.

The Philadelphia Vespers' duo of Jack Kelly and Bill Knecht took the double sculls, and the Vespers' Harry Parker, 24, a Navy lieutenant, won the single scull.

This will be the fourth Olympics for Kelly, brother of Monaco's Princess Grace and a former champion single sculler.

Fourteen of the oarsmen have previous Olympic or Pan-American experience.

"This is the strongest rowing squad we've ever sent to the Olympics," Clifford T. Goes, chairman of the U.S. Olympic Rowing Committee, said.

"But it will have to be," Goes added, "because the competition will be stronger."

The United States has been all-winning in the eight-oared competition since 1920.

That supremacy is being challenged seriously this year by Germany's powerful Dittmaria Keil-Ratseburger eight, Australia and Canada, traditionally a late starter, also are expected to be strong.

The present Navy boat doesn't match the Navy Admirals of 1952 or Yale of 1956, Goes acknowledged.

"But we're hopeful Navy will have developed into a champion eight by Aug. 30 when the rowing begins on Lake Albano, outside Rome," he said.

The United States won three Olympic rowing gold medals, two seconds and a third at Melbourne, Australia, in 1956.

Goes considers Lake Washington's entries powerful and Parker the best American sculler since Kelly and Joe Burk, now the Pennsylvania coach. However, Parker must defeat the spectacular Stewart Mackenzie of Australia. Kelly and Knecht may expect serious difficulty from the Russians.

They are Frank Howard, Ed Roebuck, Norm Sherry and Tommy Davis, who combined slugging and, in Roebuck's case, pitching skill to shatter the St. Louis Cardinals 11-7 Sunday.

The Dodgers reopen action Friday night in San Francisco against the Giants.

The Dodgers blasted 16 hits off six of Solly Hemus' moundmen to the delight of a Sabbath turnout of 26,653.

Included were homers by Howard, Sherry and Davis, with big Frank leading the assault. He knocked in five runs with a two-run homer, a double and a single.

And Roebuck, who toiled at St. Paul last year, notched his seventh straight victory in relief. Good-looking Ed has an earned-run average of 1.94, best in the National League, and has allowed but one run in the last 28 innings.

Giants Finally Win, But All's Not Well

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Well, the Giants finally won one, but all's not well with the once highly rated San Franciscans.

"Two or three of those fellows still aren't hitting the ball," Manager Tom Sheehan grumbled after his club snapped a five-game losing streak by beating Chicago 5-3.

"Kirkland (Willie) is going bad and so is Cepeda (Orlando)," Sheehan commented. Kirkland hadn't had a hit in his last 17 times at bat; Cepeda struck out twice Sunday and has had only one single in his last 13 trips to the plate.

Since Sheehan took over June 18, the Giants have won 7 while losing 13 and slipped to a tie for fourth with St. Louis.

CAT TALE—This 14-pound flathead catfish should have kept his big mouth shut, but then Harold Johnston wouldn't be wearing the smile in Leavenworth, Kans. Using a doughball for bait, Johnston was fishing for carp in a small pond when the whopper made a grab for the hook.

The Business World

Consumers Foot the Bill For High Cost of Sugar

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—You pay the premium on Cuban sugar, not your government.

The grocery price of sugar—higher here than elsewhere in the world—is based on what U.S. sugar importers, refiners and distributors pay to sugar growers, millers and shippers, whether they be Cubans, Filipinos or Americans.

The premium—which isn't paid to the foreign government as such in checks from the U. S. Treasury—comes about this way:

The current price of granulated white cane sugar at the store is around 14 cents a pound. Part of that is the cost of distribution and handling, which is higher than it once was. Part is the cost of refining, also higher than formerly. Part is the cost of buying and shipping the raw sugar.

And better than two cents of that sugar price is the difference between the government-controlled price here and what sugar sells for on the world market outside the United States. Here the raw sugar price now is around 5 1/2 cents a pound but going as high as 6 1/4 cents where duty also is paid. The raw sugar price outside the United States has ranged recently just above or below three cents a pound.

This two to three-cents-a-pound spread in unrefined sugar as it comes from the mills runs into big money when American refiners buy some three million tons a year from Cubans and some six million pounds from all other sources.

That spread between world sugar prices and the price set here is what is referred to as the sugar subsidy. The same differential, varying in some instances due to U. S. tariffs and shipping costs, applies to all sugar raised either at home or abroad.

Last week's trimming of the U. S. quota of sugar from Cuba is primarily a political matter rather than economic. But the U.S. quota system was originally set up in 1934, largely for economic reasons, with international politics in a secondary role.

The price in the United States today isn't set by outright price controls but by a sugar quota system aimed at tailoring supply to demand.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is instructed to raise the amount of raw sugar that can be brought here when prices drop below a level deemed reasonable. This lowers the supply and perks up prices. Also under the law the department lowers the amount refiners and dealers can buy when the price here drops more than is deemed desirable. This pinch on supplies causes a price rise.

Spends Three Hours Impaled on Tree; Truck Off Canyon

SONORA, Calif. (AP)—Howard A. Davidson was in fair condition here today after spending three hours impaled on a tree after his truck went off a canyon road and into the Tuolumne River Sunday.

Davidson, 37, of San Carlos, was returning from a Sierra excursion with Mrs. Avis Watson, 31-year-old divorcee and her two-year-old son, Michael, when his truck went over the 300-foot embankment.

The little boy was thrown to the bottom of the canyon and died instantly.

Davidson was thrown out half way down and tree limbs pierced his upper chest and lower abdomen. His feet touched the ground but he could not move. Rescuers had to saw away part of the tree to free him.

Mrs. Watson was trapped in the cab of the truck, which plunged into the river. Mark Lippert, a Modesto motorcycleist who saw the accident, got to her in time and held her head above the water until rescuers arrived. She is in fair condition.

Chimpanzee Changes Diaper, Holds Infant

TACOMA (AP)—A female chimpanzee, trained to change a baby's diapers, seized a six-months old girl from her stroller Sunday and refused for 20 minutes to surrender the infant.

Little Marcia Lynn Ebert was returned unharmed to her mother, Mrs. Frederick Ebert, after the chimp had completed a diaper change under surveillance of a state patrolman and store officials.

The incident occurred in a Tacoma department store which keeps the chimp for publicity purposes and lets it circulate among the customers on a leash.

The animal, whose name is April, is 4 1/2 years old.

Glamour Will Rub Off Onto Convention

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's only a dozen miles from Hollywood to the site of the Democratic National Convention. So, naturally, the big show will take on some trappings of the glamor capital.

It's not like the old days, when Hollywood was virtually an FDR camp. Like many wealthy and fairly settled towns, Hollywood now leans toward the Republicans. But there are still enough Democratic stars to give the convention a glittering look.

Tonight's opening session will see a star-spangled chorale singing the national anthem on TV. Among the choristers: Ralph Bellamy, Nat King Cole, Tony Curtis, George Jessel, Peter Lawford, Shirley MacLaine, Lee Marvin, Sheree North, Vincent Price, Barbara Rush, Frank Sinatra, Sammy Davis Jr., Shelley Winters and Jan Sterling.

The man who corralled the talent and prepared the entertainment is veteran screen writer Allen Rivkin, director of the Democrats' Art Council.

"We're not going to give the delegates a lot of entertainment at the sports arena," he explained. "They're here for business; they can get entertainment elsewhere. The main thing we provide is a musical frame for the sessions. We'll have the national anthem at the beginning and at the end, too, following some spirituals. I've seen the English sing their anthem at the beginning and close of their public events, and it's a good system."

Helping to complete the frame will be the 35-piece brass band that also plays for the Los Angeles Rams, plus Gaylord Carter at the mighty organ. They'll no doubt be belaboring TV and radio listeners with the convention's official 1960 tune, "Walkin' down to Washington." Described by Demo musical director Johnny Green as a "wower," it goes:

"I'm walkin' down to Wash-

"Like we used to do!"

"Hosannah! Hosannah!..." Catchy? The arts committee hopes so. It also lined up Milton Berle and George Jessel to emcee the bigwig banquet at the Beverly Hilton Sunday night. Among the high-priced talent engaged for free: Sinatra, Davis, Judy Garland, Mort Sahl.

The big, big show, as Ed Sullivan might say, comes this Friday when the nominees make their acceptance speeches in the Coliseum. The Democrats are hoping to fill the big bowl to its 107,000 capacity.

If the history-making event isn't enough as bait, they'll also provide everything from a Japanese girl drum corps and Virgin Islands steel band to the Los Angeles police motorcycle drill team performing to the tune of "Drag-Net." Dum-da-dum-dum, remember?

Also on the program are Mort Sahl, Steve Allen's jazz combo and Edward G. Robinson reading Whitman's "Thou mother with thy equal brood," finishing with a bell effect. All this and the two candidates too.

It's going to be quite a week.

Police Nab Jesse James in Lot Brawl

BRIDGETON, N.J. (AP)—Jesse James is in jail today, unable to raise $100 in bail.

The 30-year-old namesake of the famed Missouri bandit was arrested with four other persons Saturday night after police broke up a brawl in a restaurant parking lot.

Police said they caught Jesse James with a broken bottle in his hand and charged him with disorderly conduct.

750 Club Private Line Downtown Didn't Pan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One room at the Democratic convention headquarters hotel was taken by the 750 Club, composed of Democrats who have contributed $1,000 or more to the party.

A newsman discovered the club ordered a direct telephone line to some point downtown. He didn't know where but—suspect there might be political significance—he called the number to see who would answer.

It was the brokerage firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith.

New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made

The Males Self-Control Is Better Than Females

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Do men have more self-control than women? Doctors say it's easier to break men of the smoking habit. And it also has been found men are more determined about sticking to a diet.

Growing older has some advantages over youth. For example after 60 most people become more immune to poison ivy.

The sports parade: Thanks partly to the push President Eisenhower gave the game, some four million Americans now play at least eight rounds of golf a year. But the number of bowlers is estimated as high as 25 million.

Inventive monarchs: We owe the handkerchief to King Richard II. The fork to Henry II.

Americans spent more on chewing gum last year, 330 million dollars than they contributed to all the national health agencies—about 200 million dollars.

Suggested motto for both national political conventions: "He serves his party best who serves the country best."—Rutherford B. Hayes, in 1877.

Ever worry about how many pairs of false teeth you'll have to buy in your lifetime? George Washington is known to have had at least six—one pair was carved from hippopotamus tusk, another, made of lead, weighed more than three pounds.

Actor Walter Slezak gives this description of a bore: Here today and here tomorrow!

Girls, don't hesitate to marry a genius for fear he'll prove a bad mate. Contrary to popular belief, surveys have shown that geniuses although they tend to marry a little later settle down better than average husbands. And rate high in humor, affection and strength of character.

My own wife, however, says this has not been her experience.

It was George Bernard Shaw who observed, "The more things a man is ashamed of, the more respectable he is."

Boyish Face Spearheading Demo Attack

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A good-looking boyish face with twinkling eyes, topped by a shock of thick black hair, holds the nation's spotlight tonight.

Sen. Frank Church, at 35 the youngest senator, for a time will be the voice of the Democrats.

The party banks on him to carry the fight to the Republicans as temporary chairman and keynote speaker at the Democratic National Convention's opening session. He says he's ready.

Church is a young man who knew where he wanted to go: to the United States Senate. Now he's there, and he says that's where he wants to stay for a good, long time.

When he decided on public life, he took the direct route. He studied oratory and debate in high school and wound up 20 years ago by winning the American Legion's national speaking contest. That meant a four-year college scholarship. Then he became a lawyer as a prelude to entering Idaho politics.

He has come a long way since his father, a Boise, Idaho, sporting goods merchant, unwittingly sparked young Frank's interest in politics by arguments across the dinner table. The late Sen. William E. Borah also excited his admiration.

His dad might have had some doubts about his son's convention role if he were alive—the elder Church was a staunch Republican.

Miss Universe Faces Logistics Problems

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Linda Bement, 18, a Salt Lake City girl, faced a problem of excess baggage today as she prepared to return home after a clean sweep of honors in the Miss Universe beauty pageant.

Linda came to Florida 10 days ago as Utah's representative in the pageant. She became Miss USA Thursday and Miss Universe of 1960 Saturday night. Her assets included a figure of 37-23-36 carried on a 5-foot-6 frame.

"I don't know how I'll ever get this trophy home," the raven-haired beauty said. "Daddy may have to build another room just to keep it."

The Miss Universe trophy stands three feet high and weighs more than 20 pounds. In addition, Linda received a check for $5,000 as Miss Universe winner and a personal appearance contract for another $5,000.

She said she probably would accompany her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bement, on a plane trip to Utah Tuesday unless pageant officials wanted her for personal appearances immediately.

whose pet peeve was the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"I learned all about the Democrats so I could argue with dad," Church says. "I ended by converting myself."

Church has an open, friendly face. It's not easy to picture him in a smoke-filled room.

When he went to the Senate at the age of 32, did he find things to his liking?

"I haven't found politics disillusioning," he says. "It's about what I expected. You do as much as you can do and try to find a middle ground where those with different views can get together."

"You have to be satisfied with half a loaf frequently."

What about young men in politics?

"I can't be against them," he chuckles.

"I have never felt that maturity was a matter of birthdays. It's more attitude and demeanor. We all know people who grow old without ever maturing."

"It will deal principally with today's problems and look to the future," he says. "There will be no personal attacks against any Republican, past or present, but I will try to state the case against this administration in terms of pressing problems I feel are unattended to here at home and the serious decline I believe the American position abroad has undergone the past eight years."

Rep. Powell Disclaims Negro Vote

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Loungeing in a bathing suit and waving a long, thin cigar as though it were a scepter, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) welcomed his visitor.

The Congressman from Harlem ambled out to the swimming pool with the easy grace of a ballroom dancer, slid into a lounge chair at the home of a Negro friend with whom he is staying, and started talking.

He's backing Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri for the Democratic presidential nomination, but he said his second choice is Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Would Negroes vote for a southerner?

"You can't frighten Negro voters with sectionalism," he replied. "LBJ gets things done. For the first time in 82 years, Congress has passed a civil rights bill—thanks to Johnson."

"It took courage for a Southerner to do what he did. (Sen. John F.) Kennedy has not shown that kind of courage."

Kennedy of Massachusetts, addressing a rally sponsored by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, called for a strong civil rights plank and added: "I want our party to speak with courage and candor on every issue, and that includes civil rights."

Powell spoke briefly of Symington—"He's got an excellent voting record"—and then launched into sharp criticism of Kennedy and considerable praise of Johnson, the two front-runners.

He said he was particularly incensed about a luncheon meeting between Kennedy and Gov. John Patterson of Alabama, and Patterson's subsequent endorsement of Kennedy.

Would he endorse Kennedy against Vice President Richard M. Nixon? "I don't know yet," he said with the air of a man who doesn't like the alternatives.

Powell broke party lines and supported Eisenhower against Adlai E. Stevenson in 1956 but since has expressed disenchantment with the President.

Is there such a thing as a Negro vote? "No more than there's a Jewish or Irish vote," he replied, "and I might add that white people—even revered leaders like Eleanor Roosevelt—no longer speak for Negroes. They speak for themselves."

What sort of a civil rights plank does he favor?

His answer was surprisingly moderate: "The main thing is that the executive, legislative and judicial branches reaffirm that the Supreme Court decision is the law of the land."

Freedom Fighter Is Being Sought For Killing Two

HIGHLAND PARK, N.J. (AP)—A former Hungarian freedom fighter who collects sport cars, jazz records and formal clothes is being sought for questioning today in the slaying of two policemen who had arrested him for speeding.

The policemen from nearby Franklin Township were found shot to death Sunday in the apartment of Michael Fekecs, 25.

The slain patrolmen, George Dunham and John Lebed, had pursued Fekecs into the city of New Brunswick and arrested him for speeding. When they discovered Fekecs' license had been revoked, they escorted him to Franklin Township police headquarters.

After bail was set at $250, police said Fekecs asked the two patrolmen to accompany him to his apartment here so he could pick up money for the bond.

That was the last time any of their colleagues saw Dunham and Lebed alive.

Rebecca Yasgur, Fekecs' neighbor, summoned police after she discovered a hole in the wall and a bullet on her living room floor.

Police broke into the ground floor two-room apartment and found the two patrolmen dead on the bedroom floor. Each body had a head wound from a .32 caliber pistol.

The pistol and one of the policemen's service revolvers were missing.

Policeman Recognizes Fang Marks; Credited With Saving Girl

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A Houston policeman was credited by a doctor with saving a young girl's life because he recognized punctures on her hand as a snake bite.

Pamela Jolen Walker, 6, became ill and swollen Sunday about an hour after she told her parents she cut her hand on a piece of glass.

Patrolman A.B. Cooley, 28, was cruising in the neighborhood when the girl's father, Wayne D. Walker, hailed him. The officer saw the punctures and escorted the family to a hospital.

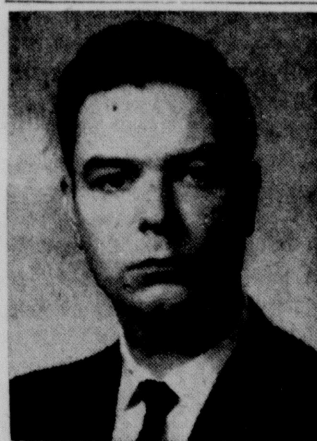

"It was the most advanced case of snake bite I've ever seen," a doctor said. "A few more minutes and it would have been too late."

The girl responded to serum and appeared to be out of danger.

Joplin Golf Pro Is Acquitted of Arson

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—A circuit court jury Saturday acquitted Robert C. (Speck) Riggs, former Joplin golf pro, of arson.

Riggs, 40, denied he set fire to the municipal golf club house Oct. 23. He testified that he lost $1,500 worth of merchandise and nine golf trophies, and that his loss wasn't insured.

Semi-Annual Seminar On Retirement

By BING CROSBY
Written for The Associated Press
Comes now my seasonal seminar on the subject of retirement. I've given it considerable thought—in a negative sort of way.

My stand is that a fellow shouldn't go into voluntary retirement while his golf game is up to par and he is genuinely enjoying the kind of work he is cut out for.

Golf was not invented as a game for desiccated old duffers who are trying to duck the problem of counting their money and hoping to escape the social fluff invented by their wives.

Let's think about that categorically. My golf game isn't too bad. I let the government count my money. I'm having a ball performing my none-too-strenuous professional chores. And Kathy has no truck with social chaff.

This brings me to the subject of Bob Hope, the fellow who refers to me as the "crow of the crooners." Why he works so hard, I'll never know. He's really loaded, but he works even to the exclusion of his golf, which is a game I know he lives with all his heart. But he works day and night. He would do anything, fly anywhere to pick up a plaque.

It's better to do an odd job here and there, as the spirit moves you. The ABC spirits only move me to do two of their specials a year, and I take jobs out at Twentieth Century-Fox when they don't interfere with my time with my family, my fishing, and golf.

Why, I can have a romp with the children after their morning feeding and be ensconced in the barber chair of the Fox make-up department in five minutes flat.

We've got "High Time" all wrapped up now and, from what I've seen of the rough cut, we may have a winner.

The ABC TV studios are a bit farther down the road from my home, but I can tend to my recording chores en route and pick up some fishing gear at the same time.

My next special for the network is set for Oct. 5, and there isn't much I can tell you about it at this point except that I'll have three of my boys on for a return engagement. They did right well on their last outing.

Come to think of it, these lads have been piling up so many bookings of late they might begin to give some serious thought to their

Eleven-year-old Survives Crash, Walks for Aid

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—An 11-year-old boy survived a crash of a small plane and then, seriously injured, walked over five miles for aid.

Killed in the crash were Mrs. R. C. Sasser, mother of Randy Sasser, and R. H. Myles, 37, pilot of the plane. All were from Waycross, Ga. The single engine Cessna crashed Sunday night atop Mt. Atena, about eight miles southwest of here. Tennessee highway patrolmen said the man and woman were thrown from the plane. Wreckage was spread over some 50 square feet.

Randy, seriously injured after being thrown from the plane, staggered through heavy underbrush to a dirt road and down the mountain to the home of Xen Austin. After he told his story he was taken to a Chattanooga hospital where he was listed in fair condition with lacerations, abrasions and a possible broken leg.

A. B. Cochran, airport manager at Waycross, said Myles filed a flight plan Wednesday saying he was going to Chicago and back alone. The plane was returning from Chicago at the time of the crash—during a thunderstorm that dumped an inch of rain on some areas and bore wind gusts up to 51 miles an hour.

Police in Waycross said Mrs. Sasser and her husband were separated.

retirement. Dad will be only too happy to keep on working.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Grocer B.C. Russell, 59, triggered a booby trap he had rigged to protect his store and was shot in the right side Sunday.

Russell, who intended to throw a watermelon in the garbage can, opened the back door of the store. The door jerked a string which discharged a .38 caliber pistol. His injury was not serious.

The device killed Earl Wayne
